English Composition

The test of this subject "English Composition" consists of writing two paragraphs (50% for each paragraph) as instructed below:

For the first paragraph, you are to write a paragraph of about 300 words to compare two places you are familiar with. In this paragraph, you should include one dominant or the most impressive similarity and one dominant or the most impressive difference between these two places. Give specific and clear examples or details to support your comparison. Write a topic sentence to begin this paragraph and include the two main points of similarity and difference of these two places. Then, develop this paragraph and use a sentence to conclude it.

For the second paragraph, you are to write a paragraph of about 300 words to express your own ideas or opinions whether you agree or do not agree with the statement that cellular or mobile phones have brought more advantages rather than disadvantages to our life. State your position or stance in the topic or first sentence of the paragraph. Write three reasons why you take this position or stance. Support the reasons with specific examples or details. Then, write the paragraph and use one sentence to conclude it.

Your writing will be scored on the basis of the following four categories: 1) 35% of the contents or thoughts you express; 2) 35% of accuracy and fluency in expression and syntax; 3) 20% of paragraph organization and coherence; and 4) 10% of spelling, capitalization, and punctuation.

Write both paragraphs on the test booklet as legibly or clearly as possible.
